YOUR OPTIONS

PAY NOW

If your balance is small enough for you to afford, you can pay your taxes anytime before April 15th.

After April 15th, the IRS will begin to charge interest on your balance due. If you have filed for an extension, you will still be charged interest on your balance after April 15th. You can make a payment before the deadline to pay less in interest.

SHORT-TERM PAYMENT PLAN

A short-term payment plan allows you to pay in installments over the next 180 days. There is no start-up fee. You must owe less than $50,000. You will have to also pay accrued penalties and interest until the balance is paid in full.

LONG-TERM PAYMENT PLAN

A long-term payment plan allows you to pay monthly for as long as it takes to pay off your tax debt. If you choose direct deposit (automatic payments), the setup fee is $31. Otherwise, the fee is $130.

Fees may be waived if you are considered low-income. View the IRS website for more information.

SETTLE YOUR DEBT

In some specific cases, the IRS may allow you to settle your debt for less than you owe. This is called an "Offer in Compromise." See more information here:

<https://www.irs.gov/payments/offer-in-compromise>

NOTE: If you owe any money on your federal tax return, you should receive Form 1040-V. This is the payment voucher that you mail with your check or money order for any balance due.
